

Whole Person Care Team Clinical Instructor, Health Law and Policy Clinic
Center for Health Law & Policy Innovation (CHLPI)
Harvard Law School

Job Summary:

Reporting to the Center for Health Law and Policy Innovation (CHLPI) Director of Whole Person Care, the Clinical Instructor will work with staff and students to advocate for legal, regulatory, and policy reforms to expand access to high-quality healthcare; to reduce health disparities; and to promote more equitable and effective health and public health systems. This position represents a unique opportunity to join a dynamic public interest program practicing in burgeoning areas of state and national importance and to teach and mentor law students to become skilled, innovative, and thoughtful health system practitioners. This position is eligible for flexible work and schedule arrangements. The salary range for this position is $79,000-$135,000 (Grade 58). Job Specific Responsibilities:

As a Clinical Instructor, you will:

- Develop and oversee the portfolio of work on one or more of the Clinic's initiatives designed to reduce health disparities by improving the ability of health care programs (e.g., state Medicaid programs) to identify and respond to social determinants of health (e.g., food, housing, transportation), explicitly working to advance racial justice and health equity goals;
- For each relevant initiative, lead project management activities including establishing and maintaining relationships with clients and partners, staying abreast of relevant developments, and helping develop and meet the expectations for grants and funders;
- Supervise and train clinical students on lawyering skills including problem-solving, law and policy analysis, research and writing, oral communication, and leadership;
- Work with clinical students to provide training, technical assistance, and other supports to clients, community partners, and coalitions on matters pertaining to policy development, advocacy, and implementation;
- Assist with development and teaching of classroom courses offered in conjunction with the Clinic;
- Deliver talks and trainings to clients, partners, and policymakers, and represent the Clinic at local and national conferences and events;
- Lead and support the administrative tasks of the Clinic, including conference and event planning, student outreach, communications, development, and other tasks that arise; and,
- Work with Clinic leadership to help develop and implement the vision for the future success of the innovative health law and policy work conducted by the HLPC.

Basic Qualifications:

JD Degree required, earned at least three years ago, a minimum of three years' relevant experience and admitted to a state bar.
